

Police End Search For Missing Woman

KXAS-TV

In a news release Monday, Plano police announced that they had ended the search for Ellen Hancock, who has been missing since Nov. 26. Police and civilian volunteers searched several areas during the weekend, but did not locate Hancock, the release read.

However, the investigation into the disappearance of the 62-year-old will continue.

A $5,000 reward for information leading to the recovery of Hancock remains in effect.

Police ask anyone with information to call the Plano Police Department tip line at (972) 941-2148.